Dedication

We, the Class of 2000, would like to dedicate this yearbook to our Class Advisors, Ms. Gilson and Mr. Organek. Through the past four years, they have been there to guide us along our way and help us through the tough times. We truly appreciate their efforts to our class.

The senior class would also like to extend a special thanks to Mr. Soutra and Mr. Cezus, Mr. Soutra has given us motivation and innovation in our four years here. Mr. Cezus' support and dedication to the senior class has been most appreciated.

We thank you all for the support and dedication you have given us!

Class Motto

*"I hope it was okay, I know it wasn't perfect.
I just hope in the end we can laugh and say it was all worth it."*

The 2000 Class History

The first leg of our four-year race toward graduation started out around the corner of EWHS with Kim Floyd, Alana Grossi, Katie Clair, Jessica Roy, Michelle Dumaine, and Christina Bloking in the lead positions. Freshman year gave rise to a new concept: acknowledging the fact that we were no longer the "Kings" and "Queens" of the school. Our class was now at the bottom of the barrel! That year Miss Gilson led a solo coaching effort to push us towards the finish line and towards graduation.

Rushing down the backstretch against the wind — Somaira Altaf, Alana Grossi, Katie Clair, Robert Kucejko, Jason Bowsza, and Christina Bloking started the second leg. Miss Gilson was giving words of encouragement from the sidelines with some help from our newly acquired class advisor: Mr. Organek. It was the year of the dreaded candy fundraiser, which left most of the class in disarray. Luckily for us, our advisors helped to form a remarkable ring dance, which led us into the next leg of the race.

The back corner headed up junior year with Alana Grossi, Michelle Dumaine, Katie Clair, Robert Kucejko, Jessica Roy, and John Madigan sprinting hard. This was the year that "Proud to Be Number 4" finally came together, and won us the hall decorating contest with our disco theme. Worn down from looking at colleges and taking the SAT's the class was now running on empty. Soon enough, the prom came and we refueled our efforts towards graduation. Now, all that was left was to become seniors and begin that final stretch to cross the finish line, where we would hopefully meet out our goals.

Exuberantly sprinting towards graduation, the Class of 2000 was in full stride with Christina Bloking, Edward Koehler, Jessica Roy, Erin Boutin, Katie Clair, and Josh Kasevich heading the pack. We faltered during the course of the run with the Superlative catastrophe, but we regained our stride heading towards graduation with the class poll and the class prophecies. The magazine drive helped a great deal by lowering and dissolving some student's dues. A pizza party was given to us because of the fundraiser's tardiness in giving us the rewards for selling all the magazines. Applications and deadlines consumed the year, and soon we were closing toward the graduation date. Enjoying the Senior Banquet, the Senior Outing, the Senior Will, and surviving the Senior Auction, we swiftly crossed the finish line. We have survived high school as the last class of the millennium, with the aide of Miss Gilson and Mr. Organek. A new realization has just abruptly struck us. There is one more race to partake — the race toward our dreams and goals that will affect the rest of our lives.

Prophecy

In 20 years:

Somaira Altaf will be married to a Muslim, with two kids, having finished commuting to UConn and practicing law in a firm.

Sarah Anderson will be living a quiet life in Connecticut with her husband and two children.

Danielle Argarin will be living in Florida next door to Shauna, married to John with two children, still annoying Seth and Mark with Jessica.

Kate Barber will be teaching her second grade class in an elementary school, wearing baggy clothes, listening to alternative music and coaching the Chicago Bulls.

Desiree Bayer will have an apartment in New York with her fine husband still having the time of her life.

Melanie Boland will finally own her own car, be married to her Big Y boyfriend, living in Soho, NY as vice-president of the Playaz Club and designing scarves for supermodel Kate Yosky.

Rebecca Bonelli will be a technical director for a major theater and will be happily married with kids.

Edward Bonetti will be married with three kids, finishing a career with the Army as a helicopter technician and enjoying life as a science teacher.

Erin Boutin will still be selling jewelry at Sears and flirting with every guy that walks by her.

Jason Bowsza will be teaching high school history, working part time at The Gap, complaining about how much he hates it and still telling people to shop there.

Michele Breau will be happily married to Kevin Hill with two kids while pursuing her dream of being a famous fashion designer.

Jennifer Bulgajewski will be dedicating her life with Ginny, island hopping with Jimmy Buffett instead of sitting by the phone waiting for Mr. Right to call, who says he will, but never does.

Kerry Crowley will be a retired MTV VJ, steering clear of rocks as co-president of the Playaz Club, living it up in Soho, NY with her lover boy and their two children.

Cybre Czarnecki will be married to her oh-so cute Christian husband, living close to home, while teaching fifth grade and happily raising her seven little children.

Tara Czarnecki will be a missionary and living with her loving husband and many children.

Kevin DesRocher will be happily married to Jessica while living in a log cabin miles from civilization.

Michelle Dumaine will be spending her summers with Cecilia in Sweden, watching "Happy Gilmore" with Jackie and letting her kids stay out as late as they want.

John Dziadul will be savoring the bittersweet taste of world domination.

Crystal Flewelling will be a successful accountant, living in New York City, married with two children, driving a BMW convertible and visiting Ayianna in Virginia.

Alana Grossi, supermodel/actress, will be enjoying the fame of her latest movies, "Sarah and Alana II" while trying to get to her store "Platforms and Cheese" on time after the Breakfast Club.

Doug Haines will be overweight and bald, watching the Dallas Cowboys try to win a game, while married to a supermodel who supports him by bringing in over two million dollars a year.

Anne Higgins will be living on the isle of Iggins sending out anti-everything newsletters written on recycled paper by hand because she refuses to buy a computer (even one of the crappy ones).

Brian Hill will be leaving them wet with Engine 60 of the New York Fire Department while owning and operating plastic people and married to his jellybean.

Wesley Hills will be a multi-millionaire happily married with five children, a beautiful wife, but still doing the same old routine when the weekend comes.

Matt Holland will still be cruising in the Monte, while wearing his AND 1 SHORTS on his way to teach P.E., after kissing his beautiful FBI agent wife goodbye.

Ayianna Jackson will be assistant manager at Ch 2, living in Dale City, Virginia, and driving a blue Dodge Durango to New York to see her best friend forever, Crystal Flewelling.

Wahied Jerjies plans to be a money-making genius with ridiculous amounts of property.

Josh Kasevich will be married to the love of his life with his wonderful children or living alone for the rest of his life.

Jessica Kloter will be living on a tropical island with Shauna, Danielle, Kurt, Nacho and Cormier, having fun raising cows and chilling with that fun guy.

Edward Koehler will be seen on ESPN winning a tournament in edwarGA/PBA, standing next to his beautiful wife and their three wonderful children, while still attached to Ryan's hip.

Bob Kucejko will still be stealing copiers from Staples when he's on vacation from his cushy job as the CEO of the company that overtook Microsoft.

Faith Kurtz will be very successful running The Wall Street Journal so if you ever need some pointers with financing call me . . . 1 800 WALL STR.

Chris LaFleur will still be doing construction work, married to his beautiful high school sweetheart, Sue Thompson and spoiling their one daughter.

Mike Laterreur will be running a successful business with Chris LaFleur known as "Laterreur/LaFleur Handiman Service"

John Loos will be touring the world in his '67 Camaro, experimenting with every extreme winter sport with the love of his life while looking for the ultimate thrill of his life.

John Madigan will be living large on a beach with his gorgeous wife and decked out ride.

Holly Mangiagli will be happily married with one kid and working as an accountant.

David Mosher will continue to sing Sinatra hits, while he stars in a series of movies with Adam; challenges Jason to the world record in pole vaulting and teaches high school history, while the tail grows on and on.

Christopher Muir will be relaxing in Florida with his gorgeous wife and three beautiful kids, while playing in the NBA supporting his family and his three million dollar estate.

Ryan Nilsson will be watching the Yankees win another World Series as principal owner, being hated by some woman for what he did, while still attached to Ed's hip.

Amanda Opalacz will be a successful teacher, still be dreaming of Bob, and looking in every mirror she can find.

Tanisha Perez will have her own fashion design company in Florida, along with her husband who will be playing in the NBA, supporting their three beautiful children.

Jessica Roberts will have a rewarding job at the DMV "if you can't beat 'em, join 'em," married to a rich masseur and still making weekly trips to Chuck E. Cheese's with her kids.

Jen Roman will still be thinking about what to write for her prophecy.

Jess Roy will be a retired Baywatch lifeguard living with her blazin' husband and their gorgeous sons, teaching them to play the game, while hosting the wildest parties in history as co-president of the Playaz Club.

Christina Scioscio will be married to the man of her dreams, with seven kids, still working at Friendly's.

Mark Tardif will be living in Florida in the same neighborhood as Shauna and Danielle and married with three kids.

Amy Thompson will be happily married to Rob, with two kids, and working as a successful social worker.

Sue Thompson will be married to her one true love, Chris LaFleur, and spending all his money on her mustangs!

Shauna Thorne will be living in Florida with Dan and five kids, next door to Danielle and still jammin' to Limp Bizkit and Korn.

Kristopher Traska will establish a multi-millionaire computer industry, become a part-time "cheesy" horror movie critic and attend Pink Floyd's 50th reunion concert.

Adam Weidner will be two years away from retiring in one of his four homes with his new lungs, beautiful wife, and four bouncing baby clones.

Letter from the Editors . . .

It's yearbook time again. As this year comes to a close, we would like to extend a heartfelt thank you to all the talented and hardworking people that made this year's Archive possible. The road has been bumpy, but everything turned out perfect in the end.

When we started on our journey to complete the Archive 2000, none of us were ready for what was in store for us. We were immediately hit with deadlines and incredible amounts of stress. Mrs. Malin and Mr. Cezus were always there to guide us and help us through our dilemmas.

Looking back, we are both impressed with the levels of maturity and dedication we have found in our staff members this year. Neither one of us have ever worked with such a great group of individuals before.

*Sincerely,
Amanda and Stephanie*

Student Council

Advisors: Mrs. Arnold & Mr. Harrigan

Student Council provides for student participation in school government, establishes a better understanding between the administration, faculty, and students, and affords training and citizenship by exercising rights and meeting responsibilities.

Senior Executive Board

Advisors: Ms. Gilson & Mr. Organek

The Senior Class exhibits leadership for all class executive boards through their example of true dedication and determination. A successful magazine drive was held earlier in the school year to defer graduation costs. The board also organizes the Senior Class Outing and the Senior Banquet to be held in May of 2000.

Junior Executive Board

Advisor: Mrs. Lassow & Mrs. Woodruff

The Junior Class Executive Board organizes and directs the projects for the 1999 & 2000 school year. Our activities include bake sales, setting and collecting class dues and leading our class to a successful year. Our major project this year was the planning of our Junior Prom. It was held on May 19, 2000 at the Yankee Pedlar.

Advisors: Mrs. Percival & Mr. Anderson

This year's Sophomore Class is working very hard to accomplish our goals. We are fast at work planning for our Junior Prom, ordering our class rings and running our fund raisers. At the end of the year, we will have our annual Ring Dance at which time we receive our rings. Everyone is working hard to make this year a terrific and exciting year.

Freshmen Executive Board

Advisors: Mrs. Bowman & Mr. Cezus

The Freshmen Executive Board is extremely important. We have the responsibilities of deciding what activities and fund raisers should take place during the year. These activities and fund raisers offset the cost of trips and activities offered to the freshmen class, as well as deferring the costs of graduation in 2003. We work very hard to make the activities offered interesting, hoping to involve as many freshmen as possible.

Renaissance Club

Advisors: Mrs. Kotula & Mr. Bravakis

Renaissance is a national program which promotes academic excellence, student activities, and behaviors which lead to success in school and reinforce a positive work ethic. Renaissance is a process where all parts of the East Windsor Community work together. Renaissance is a program that provides tangible rewards for attaining the program's goals.

Panther TV

Advisor: Mr. Anderson

High School students with an interest in broadcast journalism can become involved with Panther TV. Members of each class produce and present a live telecast of daily announcements for both the student body and staff. These shows are viewed over the school's Channel One television network each morning during homeroom. The crew of PTV are not only responsible for reading the news of the day, but they are also given the chance to learn about the technical production work that goes on behind the scene.

Newspaper

Advisors: Mrs. Lassow & Mrs. Zenuh

The school newspaper, Independent Voices, was started at the end of last school year. It was developed to give students an opportunity to express views and concerns about everything from school to the world and the connection between. Students have chances, also of having in print their own prose, poetry and short stories. We hope more and more students from grades 9-12 will participate in working on and contributing to this publication.

*Life seems so like that bit of string;
Each deed we do a simple thing;
Yet day by day is one life's strand;
We work with patient heart and hand;
It gathers joy, makes dark days bright; And gives us at least a lovely light.*

Chorus

Advisor: Ms. Smiley

High School Chorus is a performance-oriented class designed to develop and perfect choral performance techniques learned at the Jr. High or Middle School level. Students learn to develop their musical literacy skills. They also work to improve their interpretation of vocal music. Performance techniques covered include: stage presence and decorum, movement and use of sound equipment and lighting from a performance perspective. This year's EWHS Chorus is working on many complex and entertaining pieces. Our annual events include winter and spring concerts, a fall dinner theatre and caroling around school for the holiday season.

What On Earth Happened?

The world spent much of the past thousand years making some pretty amazing history. As the millennium began, Druids practiced dark rituals, while the Byzantine Empire dominated Eastern Europe. Conqueror Genghis Khan put the Mongols on the map in the 1200s, and the Great Wall protected China against would-be invaders.

The Middle Ages, though plagued by feudalism, heralded gallant knights and the governing ideals of the Magna Carta. The Renaissance and The Enlightenment both saw great achievements in art, science and exploration, followed by Romantic and Revolutionary periods in France and colonial America.

As industry and capitalism grew, so did Communism in the Soviet Union and beyond. The World Wars and other 20th century conflicts brought struggles for power amid vast advancements in communications and technology.

History's movers and shakers included Joan of Arc, the teenager who led France to victory against England in 1429, and Martin Luther whose religious reforms shocked the 16th century. King Henry VIII of England kept his head while several of his spouses lost theirs. Sir Winston Churchill helped England stand courageously against Nazi Germany. One recent hero is Nelson Mandela, South Africa's first black president and anti-apartheid activist. Time marches on...and the next chapter is already being written.

And The Wall Came Tumbling Down

In 1961, the Berlin Wall was erected to prevent residents of Communist East Berlin, Germany, from fleeing to non-Communist West Berlin for a better way of life. In 1989, the East Germans opened the Wall, lifted immigration restrictions and reunited Germany. Tearing down the Wall symbolized the end of the Cold War, which started when the Soviet Union created "Iron Curtain" countries isolated from the Western world. In the '50s, fear of communism in the United States resulted in the "Red Scare."

...With A Star On Top

The Christmas tree began as an evergreen decorated with apples, symbolizing Eden in a December medieval German play. By the 1600s, trees in German homes were trimmed with candles, fruits and cookies. Currently, Christmas is a multi-billion dollar business with wreaths, mistletoe, stockings, movies, outdoor decorations and cards.

Crusading Towards The Holy Land

Super Stock

When Muslims took control of the Holy Land during the Middle Ages, Christians from Western Europe vowed to recapture the area. Nine major Crusades were organized with kings, nobles, peasants, and even children taking part. None was successful. Holy wars have continued to rage in such places as the Middle East, including the Six-Day War between Israel and Egypt in 1967.

In A Flash, A-Bomb Creates Nuclear Age

On August 6, 1945, a U.S. plane, the Enola Gay, dropped an atomic bomb on Hiroshima, Japan, annihilating the city and nearly 130,000 of its citizens. Japan surrendered soon after, ending World War II. Because of Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor, resulting in America's participation in the war, and the Holocaust atrocities perpetrated by Adolf Hitler's Nazi Germany, the destructive effects of World War II would live in infamy.

The Royal Flush

Where would the Ty-D-Bowl Man and bathroom libraries be without the flush toilet? After septic tanks and modern sewage systems were improved, civilizations significantly reduced the risks of severe illnesses and epidemics which were so common during the Middle Ages. Concerns prompted public health improvements, including garbage collection and disposal, water treatment and food processing.

Hoop'n It Up

With the correct hip action, the bright round plastic Hoola-Hoop could rotate for hours. When Wham-O introduced it in 1958, stores couldn't keep Hoops stocked and sales topped $100 million. Who could forget Yo-Yos, Super Soakers, Slinkys, Pogo Sticks, Clackers, Wiffle Balls, Silly Putty, Frisbees and all those other preoccupying pastimes?

The Answer, My Friend, Is Floating In The Ball

"Outlook Good." "Yes Definitely." In the '60s, important decisions were made by turning over the Magic 8 Ball or putting fingers on the Ouija board. Holy Dionne Warwick! Perhaps these were even more reliable than the Psychic Friends Network. Through the ages, fortune tellers and the supernatural have fascinated seekers of the unknown. Was all this stuff for real, oh Magic 8 Ball? "Don't Bet on It."

The Craze That Wouldn't Lettuce Alone

The threat of war may have loomed in Lebanon, but the real fighting broke out in toy stores between frenzied parents who found Cabbage Patch Kids in short supply before Christmas in the '80s. No sooner had consumers recovered from this invasion when they were hit with Power Rangers, Tickle Me Elmo, Beanie Babies and Furby manias. Dolly, can you say "Buy, Buy?"

She's Got The Skinny On The Mini

The miniskirt caused a sensation in Swinging '60s London and beyond. The mini series led to the ultra-short micromini, ankle-length maxiskirt, calf-length midiskirt, hot pants and virtually every look ever shown in music videos. Hemlines have risen and fallen throughout history—from hoop skirts and gowns to '20s flapper dresses.

Hats Off To The Millennium

Here's where fashion headed as centuries passed. Hats symbolized social status and made a statement. However, hats also protected noggins from bumps and cold weather as well as curing bed head.

Stare And Stare Alike

The 3-D thrill of the Viewmaster was love at first sight. Then along came Magic Eye, random dot stereograms that revealed 3-D images hidden in colorful graphics with holograms that practically jumped out. Life had become a virtual reality.

As The Rubik Turns

More than 200 million people twisted their way to the 3-D solution of the Rubik's Cube puzzle in the '80s. Some tried memorizing the cube's configuration while it was still in the package. Preoccupation with puzzles dates back to the first jigsaw puzzles in the 18th century. The world is still trying to solve crosswords, word searches, "Where's Waldo?" and other brain-busting challenges.

That's Pretty Fad-tastic!

Leaders. Followers. The millennium caught every generation a bit off-guard, but folks quickly had the lingo and the look down. When Elizabethan life got ruffled around the collar, everyone copied. Then poof! Powdered wigs, some several feet high, got nobles noticed in the 17th century. How about wooden teeth in Washington's time? By George, it beat having none at all!

As the years passed, women wore the bustle and disco freaks did the Hustle. The '50s poodle skirts bred '70s dog tags, '80s spiked dog collars and '90s Old Navy mutts. Who knew there'd be just as much fur-vor over Davy Crockett coonskin caps in the '50s as with raccoon coats in the '20s?

While some slipped on shining armor, carefree flapper dresses and Calvin Klein jeans, others followed different fads. Joysticks maneuvered Pac-Man into the arcade hall of fame. Suddenly everyone cared for Pet Rocks, squeezed into phone booths, pounced on Pog, pierced body parts and chose CB radio handles. Will there be as many "must haves" next millennium? Only the Magic 8 Ball knows for sure.

Arts Imitate Life

Super Stock

Nearly every civilization during the millennium expressed its culture and defining events through art and architecture. Great painters, musicians, authors and sculptors vividly captured the emotions of their day. Early Romans built coliseums and staged comedies. Byzantine mosaics and icons reflected Eastern Christian beliefs while Chinese painters produced deft landscapes.

The Middle Ages fostered the rise of Gothic cathedrals, poet Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales" and finely woven tapestries. In the Renaissance, William Shakespeare pumped up a volume of still-popular plays.

Michelangelo busily sculpted his marble marvel David. Novelists such as Jane Austen characterized the Romantic Movement of the 18th century while the 19th century promoted Impressionist painter Monet, socially-conscious authors including Charles Dickens and the riverside adventures of Mark Twain.

Ballet legend Nijinsky leaped on the 20th century arts scene. Picasso broke with tradition to pioneer Cubism and Dali turned dreams into surreality. Don't forget Dadaism, Mamaism and Norman Rockwellism. Opera was a trill a minute with stars including Beverly Sills and Luciano Pavarotti.

Stephen King and Ann Rice chilled with horror novels, while Ernest Hemingway and John Steinbeck proved more down-to-earth. Broadway was Neil Simon-ized, then "Lion King"-ized.

When 19th century French sculptor Auguste Rodin created his bronze work, The Thinker, he used his knowledge of anatomy and movement to capture intensely human emotions as great Renaissance and Baroque sculptors Michelangelo and Bernini had done before him. Many 20th century sculptors crafted more experimental works, such as Marc Chagall's mobiles and Marcel Duchamp's creations from discarded materials.

Vincent Van Gogh and Edgar Allan Poe were among other desperate artists and authors of the time.

Willie Make It Now?

AP/Wide World

Sixty-year-old Willie Loman spent his life way out there in the blue, riding a smile and a shoeshine, a salesman extraordinaire. Arthur Miller's drama, "Death of a Salesman," became one of the most riveting plays ever staged as it questioned the American dream and explored the depths of failure. During the 20th century, audiences have witnessed other gripping dramas such as "A Raisin in the Sun" and "The Glass Menagerie."

Clawing Its Way To The Top

After Andrew Lloyd Webber picked up T. S. Eliot's Old Possum's Book of Practical Cats at an airport, he grabbed the theater world by the tail as creator of "Cats," history's longest-running musical. The 20th century set the stage for vaudevillian singing and comedy acts, as well as some of the greatest musicals to hit Broadway: "Showboat," "Porgy and Bess," "Phantom of the Opera," "Hello, Dolly!" and "The Lion King."

Sometimes You Feel Like A Nutcracker

In 1892, Russian composer Peter Tchaikovsky turned the The Nutcracker into a beloved holiday ballet with his remarkable suite. Twentieth century dance gained popularity as composers wrote musicals that were imaginatively choreographed, including George Gershwin's "An American in Paris." Music and dance partnered dramatically with the Tango—followed by the carefree Charleston, Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers' ballroom elegance, the Jitterbug, the Twist and Disco.

His other creations involved striking images of mass-media icons Marilyn Monroe and Elizabeth Taylor. Music of the millennium started on a somber note with the Gregorian chants of monks and ended on samba, "La Bamba" and "Living La Vida Loca." Going After A Cure

AP/Wide World

Despite numerous medical milestones, curing diseases such as AIDS and cancer eludes the population. In the '80s, Ryan White, a hemophiliac, contracted HIV through blood transfusions and later died. The AIDS virus is the latest epidemic civilizations have battled. The Bubonic Plague killed 40 million by the 14th century and the Typhoid Fever outbreak of the early 1900s claimed countless lives as well. Vaccines now prevent such diseases as smallpox, but any mutations could pose a threat again.

It Does A Body Good

Consumers have become more concerned about keeping healthy, germ-free and well-groomed from head to toe. During the Middle Ages, baths were rarely taken, but today showers and baths are taken daily in order to keep clean and healthy. Today toothpaste, deodorants and mouthwash are used daily. Vitamins and natural herbs are popular and medical advancements keep folks functioning better.

Numb And Number

Prior to the use of anesthesia during operations, early surgeons and barbers cut veins to drain "bad" blood, or sucked it out with leeches to cure patients. Boiling oil was sometimes poured on wounds to sterilize them. Before nitrous oxide and ether were introduced as anesthetics in the 1800s, most operations weren't performed at all. Surgical conditions were unsanitary, causing infections to spread rapidly.

The Fact of Life

In the Middle Ages, the average life expectancy in Europe was about 30 years; today it is more than 70 for both men and women. Improved nutrition, sanitation, disease prevention and disease treatment are some of the main reasons for the increase.

AP/Wide World

With the average life expectancy rising, people will try liposuction and tummy tucks, facelifts and collagen injections to stay younger looking. RK and LASIK procedures make contact lenses and glasses obsolete for many, and hearing aids are almost invisible. Heart, lung and other transplants give new hope, as do today's medicines compared to the quack cure-alls of the 1800s.

Curling Irons

Bodybuilding became a pumping iron passion after ex-97 lb. weakling Charles Atlas promoted his "Dynamic Tension" muscle-producing exercises in the early 20th century. In the '80s and '90s, Arnold Schwarzenegger wannabes bench pressed and lifted weights in the gym so they could burn fat and get fit. Harmful steroids were replaced by sports drinks, creatine and protein bars to fuel performance.

Health Yourself

The mysteries of medicine, better health and longer living were revealed as the millennium unfolded. Diseases prevalent in early times were conquered through improved medicine, sanitation, immunization and eating habits, although other factors such as high cholesterol, smoking and junk foods brought on such foes as heart disease, cancer and obesity. The Food and Drug Administration now ensures proper processing to kill bacteria and preserve foods longer.

In the 1800s, Austrian monk Gregor Mendel formulated the basic rules of heredity that led to genetics, and better understanding of human makeup. Florence Nightingale brought reforms to nursing in the 19th century including more sanitary conditions and scientific care for the sick. Instead of the guesswork so common in the Middle Ages, doctors now work to control, cure and prevent illness. Medical specialties were created, producing such authorities as pediatrician Dr. Benjamin Spock who knew all about babies.

Exercise became almost an obsession as gyms, jogging tracks and Jane Fonda sprouted, and personal trainers zeroed in on targeted areas. Take a deep breath and say hello to yoga, stress reduction therapy, medications to feel happy/energetic/calmer, wrinkle creams, alternative medicines, just name it. Either people are living better or just becoming more high maintenance.

Coming And Going Attractions

Getting around was slow and hard during the beginning of the millennium but somebody had to do it. In the Middle Ages, horses got saddled with pulling wagons transporting goods and passengers for long distances. Viking ships found rough sailing to Greenland and later America, but compasses and better construction of vessels in the 1400s made voyages and overseas trade possible.

Canals and paved roads hastened travel in the 1700s and the first major U.S. Highway, the National Road, created road rage in the mid-1800s.

After Robert Fulton invented the steamboat, British inventor Richard Trevithick helped develop the locomotive.

Life quickened as travel and hauling freight became more economical.

Electric trains, streetcars and gasoline-powered engines drove transportation into the modern era. Suddenly automobiles putt-putted along and sprouted everything from running boards to fins. Airplanes soared, subways roared and spaceships explored. The risks of progress have also been great, such as the loss of pilot Amelia Earhart and her plane on an around-the-world flight in 1937, the Space Shuttle Challenger explosion in 1986 and numerous airplane crashes.

Tomorrow's transportation could include human teleportation and faster-than-light travel. The ride's been pretty good so far, but inevitably some still ask, "Are we there yet?"

Gas Transit

Once steam-powered engines invaded 18th century Europe, a steam car, or horseless carriage, seemed a natural. The gasoline engine and pneumatic tire, however, made automobiles practical. Henry Ford's 1908 assembly line mass production of his Model T made owning a car affordable. This led to the growth of suburbs, superhighways, motels, road-trips, traffic jams, malls and, of course, fuzzy dice.

You'd be brave and dirty if you traveled in the bumpy horse-drawn wagons that existed before stagecoaches arrived in 1670. Stagecoach lines carried passengers and mail along routes in the West. In the 1860s, the Central Pacific Railroad laid track eastward from Sacramento, California and the Union Pacific Railroad laid track westward from Omaha, Nebraska. The Transcontinental Railroad was finished in 1869 when both railroads met in Promontory, Utah. Coast-to-coast freight and passenger lines dramatically increased settlements and trade. Today's subways, light rail and ultra-fast bullet trains move commuters like crazy and make good action movie sequences.

Da Plane! Da Plane!

Leonardo da Vinci dreamed of flying machines with wings, but it took centuries to get the concept off the ground. The Montgolfier brothers were full of hot air when their balloon ascended in 1783. Orville and Wilbur Wright had the right stuff and flew the first successful airplane in 1903. Charles Lindbergh and Amelia Earhart flew far and solo, and Chuck Yeager broke the sound barrier. Today, airplanes carry millions of business, pleasure and military passengers. But airline food still hasn't improved much.

We Get Game

Sports gained popularity as time lunged forward. While forms of games resembling soccer were played during the 10th century, life rarely allowed time-outs for recreation. Thank goodness for the 1600s, when the English played Rounders, a baseball predecessor, and Scotland saw early rounds of golf. By the 1800s many people led the sportin' life, including James Naismith who invented basketball, and the students of Canada's McGill University who scored with the first hockey rules.

Native American athlete Jim Thorpe won fame in early 20th century Olympic track and field, as well as football and baseball. Babe Didrickson, his female counterpart, excelled in golf as well as track and field.

As baseball became a pastime and football a passion, Babe Ruth and Hank Aaron belted pitches "outta here," Jackie Robinson broke color barriers, Joe Namath threw footballs and John Elway busted Broncos loose in the Super Bowl.

Today sports revolves around such stars as heavy-hitter Ken Griffey, Jr., golf sensation Tiger Woods and hoops immortal Michael Jordan. Amateur and school sports are also serious stuff. Millions are on the fast track with NASCAR auto racing, on the edge for extreme sports and in the ropes for wrestling.

Champs For Sale

What really makes an athlete like home run king Mark McGwire a hero? Getting on General Mills' Wheaties cereal box, of course. There's nothing flaky about the morning mania created since 1924 by "The Breakfast of Champions." Sports merchandising—from corporate-sponsored Bowl games to endorsement deals—seems like the hottest game in town.

That King Could Sting In The Ring

Before modern boxing was introduced in the 1700s, the sport was brutal, with no rest periods or gloves allowed. Jack Dempsey, Joe Louis and Rocky Marciano emerge victorious in the 1900s. But no fighter jabbed and jested like Muhammed Ali. Quick, agile and boastful, "The Greatest" even wrote poems describing how he would defeat opponents. He also made heavy-weight contributions to the community and human rights.

The Russians hadn't lost an Olympic hockey game since 1968, but they were iced over by the 1980 U.S. hockey team's "Miracle On Ice" victory at Lake Placid—which led to an eventual gold medal. Since the modern Olympic Games began in 1896, heroes such as track star Jesse Owens, figure skater Tara Lipinski, platform diver Greg Louganis and the 1996 women's gymnastics team have inspired sports fans everywhere.

Served With Love

In the 1100s, the French originated tennis, calling it "jeu de paume" (game of the palm). Today it holds court as a major spectator and leisure sport. Star servers have included Don Budge, Helen Wills Moody, Arthur Ashe and 1973 "Battle of the Sexes" rivals Billie Jean King and Bobby Riggs. Recent top seeds such as Pete Sampras and Martina Navratilova have settled for anything but love by dominating Wimbledon and other championships.

How Did It Come Into Play?

Baseball, bowling and other familiar sports didn't just appear out of the blue. Here's a roster of some game origins.

Baseball: Cooperstown, NY 1839. Abner Doubleday based his new sport on bat-and-ball games such as "one old cat." He adopted the diamond-shaped field for his game and assigned playing positions.

Bowling: Germany, third century. Every German peasant carried a club called a kegel for protection. In church, faith was tested by setting up the kegel as a target (representing the heathen) and rolling a stone to try to knock it down. Those who succeeded were considered free of sin.

Fencing: Italy, 16th century. Fencing began in ancient times as the practice of swordsmanship to prepare men for duels and warfare.

It Was All An Act

After Thomas Edison invented the commercial motion picture machine, the Kinetoscope, in 1893, projection machines greatly enlarged a film's image. This led to one of the 20th century's most popular forms of entertainment, the movie. Sunny Hollywood beckoned such film directors as D.W. Griffith, who revolutionized film editing with The Birth of a Nation in 1915. Silent films made quiet stars of comedian Charlie Chaplin, handsome Douglas Fairbanks Sr., Rudolph Valentino and Jean Harlow.

In the 1930s, audiences heard voices when "talkies" caught on after The Jazz Singer's premier in 1927. Screwball comedies including It Happened One Night thrust such stars as Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert into the limelight. Alfred Hitchcock made classic thrillers, and Frankenstein was a chiller. Casablanca dramatized war and Dr. Strangelove spoofed it. Marilyn Monroe and Audrey Hepburn lit up the screen, and Charlton Heston found fame of biblical proportions. John Wayne saved the day, and James Bond was never shaken or stirred. The Rat Pack cruised the Vegas strip and the Brat Pack cruised the halls in The Breakfast Club.

Blockbusters have ruled recent movies. Sylvester Stallone punched up Rocky. Harrison Ford dodged madmen and meteors in Star Wars and Raiders of the Lost Ark. Armageddon and Titanic astounded audiences with their mega-dollar budgets. Tom Hanks, Julia Roberts and Will Smith became idols at 24-screen multiplexes.

Seen In 3-D

Weapons flying past! Spaceships zooming above! Bwana Devil wowed tinted glasses-wearing crowds as the 3-D movie phenomenon burst from the screen in 1952. But high cost and poor quality made 3-D fall flat. Disney's Captain Eo gloriously revived 3-D in the '80s and became an audience-grabber at Epcot Center. Now seven-story IMAX theaters, IMAX 3-D technology and simulator rides truly immerse viewers in movies.

Fate of the Union

From the wilderness came a nation ready to fight for freedom and survive all odds. Native Americans had lived in the continent long before European explorers and colonists arrived in the 16th century. Thirteen British colonies formed, and the Revolutionary War erupted when England tightened control, and Paul Revere warned of the oncoming British invasion. Independence and the United States of America were both declared in 1776.

The new nation weathered heat from France and Mexico, but acquired new territory such as the Louisiana Purchase. After gold in California was discovered in 1849, America heard the roar of the Civil War, Reconstruction and Native American warriors such as Geronimo. Industry growth fueled prosperity until

World War I and the beginning of the Great Depression. Two heroines, Rosie the Riveter and First Lady Eleanor Roosevelt, emerged during World War II. Peace efforts chilled as the Cold War, Korean War and McCarthyism isolated the U.S. from Communist nations.

Life prospered in the suburbs and man rocketed into space, while civil rights struggles ignited. President John F. Kennedy was struck down, as were countless soldiers in Vietnam. Then President Richard Nixon struck out after the Watergate political scandal. The Gulf War, pollution and tragedies such as the Oklahoma City bombing hit hard in recent decades. Yet

Americans still rally around the Stars and Stripes.

Betsy Ross was a well-known Philadelphia seamstress. In 1776, the young widow was approached by George Washington's Continental Congress committee to sew the first official U.S. flag per their 13 stars/13 stripes design. With the speed of Paul Revere, she finished it off as a July 4th accompaniment to The Declaration of Independence, which laid the foundation for the United States of America.

Deal-ing with Depression

The 1920s roared with prosperity until October 29, 1929, Black Tuesday, when the New York Stock Exchange crashed and millions of shares of stock were suddenly dumped, plunging many into poverty. Franklin D. Roosevelt defeated President Herbert Hoover in the 1932 election. Roosevelt worked to end the Great Depression with the New Deal. Since then, America has survived inflation, recession, tax cuts, and somehow, lunchroom food.

A Divided Nation

Super Stock

President Abraham Lincoln called it "A House Divided." The United States was unofficially split between the North (the Union), which sought to abolish slavery and modernize America, and the South (the Confederacy), which favored preserving slavery and an agrarian lifestyle. From 1861 to 1865, the bloody Civil War raged until General Robert E. Lee's Confederate army surrendered to General Ulysses S. Grant's Union force. Slavery was abolished and the United States became one nation again.

"I Have a Dream that my children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin, but by the content of their character," said Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. to Washington, D.C., protesters in 1963.

His non-violent approach helped advance civil rights for all races. Other warriors for racial equality include anti-segregationist Rosa Parks, and Jesse Jackson, who pushed for African-American economic power.

When It Was Grander On The Verandah

It was a simpler time called "The Good Old Days." The front porch, or stoop, was the nightly gathering place for several generations of family and friends. Evening breezes and conversation filled the air while a passing parade of buggies and neighbors moved past. Maybe it was the coming of television, indoor air conditioning or the faster pace of suburban communities that caused the front porch to disappear.

The Voice That Launched The Vote For Women

In 1869, Susan B. Anthony helped found the National Women's Suffrage Association to seek equal rights for women. Her efforts led to passage of the 19th Amendment in 1920, giving women the right to vote. Other women's rights leaders furthered the cause, including Gloria Steinem and Betty Friedan. Role models such as astronaut Sally Ride and Supreme Court Justice Sandra Day O'Connor opened still more doors.

In the late 1800s, some newspapers took Freedom of the Press too far. To gain new readership, some of America's leading newspapers began sensationalizing accounts of Spanish oppression in Cuba to provoke America's entry into the Spanish-American War. After this outbreak of "yellow journalism," news media took great measures to heighten credibility, though tabloid-style reporting still exists. On the flip side, investigative reporting gained popularity in the 1970s by exposing government corruption, such as Watergate, as well as improper business practices.

Television viewers, however, loved all the remote possibilities.

Ring Ma Bell

"Mr. Watson, come here," said Alexander Graham Bell into the telephone he developed in 1876. It's become one of today's most valuable communication devices, linking people throughout the world at lightning speed. From the telephone's humble beginnings have emerged high-speed fiber optic networks, fax machines, cellular phones, computer modems and videophones. There's some connection here.

Get The Message Already?

People spoke, wrote letters and sent messengers before this millennium but communication was usually local and slow. Most Middle Ages books were religious because church leaders were among the few who could read. Monks copied books by hand and town criers were heard since they announced news. Printed books of the Renaissance allowed the masses to read the Bible and other works. By the 1600s, newspapers enabled inquiring minds to read ship schedules. Benjamin Franklin helped establish regular postal service in the 1700s and the Pony Express ran mail cross-country in the 1800s.

While steamships and locomotives sped the spread of news, it wasn't until Samuel Morse invented the telegraph in the 1840s that coded messages were transmitted rapidly. Cameras, the typewriter, telephone, phonograph and motion pictures put communications on an even faster track. Advances came in short and long waves when Guglielmo Marconi invented radio. Television was perfected, and tape recorders came into play. Since the 1960s, communication satellites relayed TV, radio and other signals across the planet. Computers and modems instantly processed data, and the Internet linked the world. Broadcast journalists, such as 20/20's Barbara Walters, fueled the rise of information junkies. Fiber optics, VCRs, CD-ROMs and HDTV not only furthered technology but gave adults lots of expensive new toys.
